

4. Cardiac Arrest

Estilo: Pop contemporâneo com sintetizadores suaves e uma letra confessional, mantendo o tom de "Pop Atrevido" mesmo na vulnerabilidade.

(Verse 1)

I'm checking the mirror like it's a crime scene tonight
Wondering if the version of me you like is still in sight
I re-read every single undertone of the text you sent Overanalyzing the gaps and where the silence went
I'm good at giving way too much, then getting scared
Impersonating a girl who's perfectly prepared

(Pre-Chorus)

I'm so tired of the confusion keeping me up late
Mistaking my anxiety for some kind of twist of fate
We love to read the cold, hard facts and swear they're incorrect
Putting my own heart through a highbrow manipulation test

(Chorus)

I don't have to lie to you, I just lie to myself
Putting my confidence on the very top shelf
I mistake these butterflies for cardiac arrest
Suddenly I'm the least sought-after girl, I must confess
Don't smile because it's happening, I'm falling way too fast
Wondering if this "forever" is actually built to last

(Verse 2)

My heart is heavy now, it's like a hundred pounds
It's falling faster than the way you love to shut me down
I'm manifestin' that I'm oversized in your eyes
Searching for the "ugly truth" behind your sweet disguise
You tell me that you want me, but do you really need me?
Or am I just a chapter that you're reading way too briefly?

(Bridge)

Take my phone and lose your number before I fall back in I'm losing my goddamn mind wondering where you've been
Is it a sheer dress? Is it a thick accent she's got?
You think it's happy hour, but for me, it's definitely not
I'm just a girl getting her tarot cards read on the street
Hoping the cards don't tell me that we'll never meet

(Outro)

(Ooh-ooh, ooh-ooh-ooh)
There's nothing left to decode, but I'm still in my head
Living in the wreckage of the words you never said
It's verbatim what I feared last week, honey
(I want you to miss me, I want you to miss me)
But I'm the only one here feeling this heavy